Hello, nice to meet you

I'm Andrew, a designer who balances creativity with system thinking and does a little bit of everything—from UX interviews to product design to even writing frontend code. I'm a flexible team player who enjoys working throughout the entire product lifecycle to help deliver successful, beautiful products.

Currently

Product Designer

thoughtbot / Sept 2021–present / Remove

Helping organizations kickstart and scale their digital products by providing expertise in UX, product design, and frontend development

Previously

Frontend Designer

Sparkbox / web agency / Sept. 2016–present / Dayton, OH & Remote

Apprentice Frontend Designer

Sparkbox / web agency / June 2016–Sept. 2016 / Dayton, OH

Wore many hats as a designer who also writes code, helping clients ship everything from digital products and design systems to marketing and e-commerce sites while bridging design and development teams.

Provided expertise in UI/UX design, design systems, product design, animation, accessibility, HTML, and CSS while balancing multiple clients and helping them solve user and business problems.

Marketing Director

Student Government at Cedarville University / 2015–2016 / Cedarville, OH

Managed and gave creative direction to a team of nine designers who executed marketing campaigns for 20 campus events and programs.

Balanced creative design concepts with tight financial constraints while working across digital, print, and social touchpoints.

Design Intern

Kronos Incorporated / workforce management company / Summer 2015 / Chelmsford, MA

Created and pitched brand design concepts for corporate events to executives.

Improved brand consistency by redesigning over 200 icons for digital products.

Design Intern

Athletes In Action / sports based non-profit / Summer 2014 / Xenia, OH

Considered a diverse, international audience while working on a variety of branding and design projects.
